

CRITIC'S PICK

COURTESY OF CAROL JAZZAR CONTEMPORARY ART

Check out the adventurous, off-the-beaten-path Carol Jazzar Contemporary Art gallery in a converted garage next to Carol Jazzar's home in Miami Shores. Flower Children is a wry and retro installation by Guerra De La Paz, the collective name for the artist duo of Alain Guerra and Neralda De La Paz. Their work is made from used clothing and other recycled fabrics the artists scavenge from various sources, including Miami streets and thrift stores. In some installations the artists have created curious riffs on landscape painting by finding an unexpected range of color within piles of discarded clothing.

Opening reception for Flower Children by Guerra De La Paz is 7-10 tonight at Carol Jazzar Contemporary Art, 158 NW 91st St., Miami Shores; free. Show is up through March 17. Info: 305-490-6906 or .
